Celebrated chef Paul Merrony raises the bar in Tattersalls dining revolution

at tattersalls

Regulars at the famous Merrony's restaurant in Sydney's Rocks know that the man behind the name is one of Australia's most talented chefs. Now, in a stunning coup for the club, Paul Merrony has agreed to spread his talents to become Tattersall's Club Caterer and Executive Chef.

Announcing the new association, Club Chairman Denis Cleary said, "I am very pleased to advise Members that Paul Merrony has been appointed caterer at Tattersall's Club commencing in January. Paul has enormous experience in catering and is renowned as one of the finest chefs in Australia. I am sure members will benefit from his culinary excellence."

Paul will continue to run his celebrated restaurant, but from January will also direct every aspect of food and beverage service at Tattersall's. This will make us the only club in Australia with an internationally acclaimed executive chef - one who can offer members and guests the standards of excellence that's making Sydney's top restaurants the growing envy of the world.

The Merrony philosophy of excellence is simple: the freshest produce, the most talented young chefs trained in the Merrony-style and impeccable service.

Although we are aiming high in standards, prices will be maintained at traditionally modest Tatt's levels and the current choice of dining experiences from the Member's Dining Room, through breakfast, lunch and dinner in the more casual new Brasserie and very casual snacks at the bars and poolside will remain. In addition we will be able to offer a superb standard of catering at Club functions, or for your personal and corporate entertaining.

Paul said: "I'm not looking to turn Tattersall's into an up market restaurant, what I am committed to doing is creating the very best food - new dishes and old favourites - that will suit everyone. For instance, if we serve something as simple and traditional as pork sausages and mashed potato, I want it to be the best bangers and mash you've ever had. If we create a green curry, I want it to be so good that you demand it stays on the menu forever."

The combination of Paul Merrony's passion for food and the elegance of our newly-renovated dining and bar areas is the latest example of our commitment to maintain and develop Australia's oldest club as the envy of every other club in the country.

Black Tie Boxing scores another sell-out attendance

The evening of Friday October 15 saw another packed function room, as gifted amateurs from city and country stood toe-to-toe through seven top-quality, four round, bouts. To most of the audience, the star of the evening was our own athletic department trainer David Birchell who was cheered from the ring having made his return to the noble art two years after his horrific accident. David is now obviously very fit and never stopped punching to what most considered would have been a win had the fight been judged. The feature Tony Madigan Trophy bout ended with a huge right hook as Shane Dennis took the fight on a TKO from Amid Alimah. Although to many, the beautiful rounds girls were also a knockout.

Articulate Committee Member, Andrew Coorey, was MC. Other well-known members handed out trophies and Acting Club Secretary Tim Bowring (who had gone a few rounds with the media during the day as he tried to explain SOCOG's ticket pricing philosophy to press and TV reporters), auctioned memorabilia which raised $9,000 for the P.C.Y.C. A fine dinner and wine was enjoyed between the bouts and the aroma of Cuban cigars mingled with the sweet taste of good port.

When your weary correspondent left around midnight to return to a wife who cannot believe that men enjoy nights like this, the bar was still packed with black-tied enthusiasts.

The Club's advice to those who missed out? Reservations are strictly first come, first served - so get in early next time and experience a great night of boxing and fellowship in a tradition of gentlemen's gatherings that goes way back into the last century.

Many Members have taken advantage of the Olympic Tickets offer which was negotiated by the Club prior to the public offer. You will recall that the offer was on the back page of the September newsletter, a fact which has been overlooked by the press.

Tattersall's Club approached SOCOG and inquired if the Club, through its members, could purchase tickets. This was a commercial decision made by SOCOG and announced to Members in September.

With the completion of the upgrading of the foyers, Tattersall's Club is now well prepared for the new millennium and beyond. I must thank all Members for their patience and understanding during the renovations and look forward to your enjoyment of the new facilities in the future.

the Shape of the 2000 Man

(How Vince M. Sees It)

Good dressing doesn't change in big jumps, but the overall look is always getting bigger or slimmer...gradually.

Big airy shirts, bulging trouser pleats and the overgenerous sweater have been expanding their territory for years, says Vince M. Now it's time to slim down a little.

For 2000, pick a shirt that's shaped a little close to the torso, with the collar cut a little higher, without doing a Prince Charles.

Trouser legs have tended to narrow somewhat. If you are a cuff-wearing man, cut the cuffs a little deeper. You might even consider the slimming benefit of a flat-front pleatless trouser! Remind yourself how well you used to look in a single-breasted suit. It's time.

The dark shirt and sober necktie worn with the executive suit will still look good in 2000. The psychedelic necktie is NOT due for resurrection. Trust Vince M.

Touch football fever

The post-match scenes were reminiscent of rugby league history when an eerie Arthur Summons and Norm Provan image occurred as caretaker captain "Irish" Mike Delaney and David O'Dowd exchanged pleasantries after the game. The final result: the R.G. invitational XV victors 3-1 in a hard-fought tussle. But it's not over yet! Daylight saving sees 'State vs State and mate vs mate' with the inaugural 6am v's 7.15am charity shield. Members enrol now at the AD reception.

Athletic Department timetable from November 1999

As we lead into the new millennium, now is the time to put in the effort to look and feel great. Become part of the positive atmosphere this summer with membership of the Athletic Department. All new members will receive a free assessment, program and regular guidance. Start now - phone Paul Collins on 9264 5624

Vale Col Bowes

A Life Member of Tattersalls Club, Col Bowes passed away in his sleep on Friday, 8th of October. Col was well-known and a friend to many having been the Convener of Tattersalls Swimmers since he succeeded the late Sam Block.

Col was educated at Scots College, went into the softgoods industry and when his career was interrupted by World War 2, entered the RAAF becoming a pilot and later an instructor. He joined Tattersall's in 1954.

A devoted family man, Col had a keen interest in sports - as well as swimming, he was a regular golfer at Royal Sydney and a keen supporter of Randwick Rugby Union.

Members extend their deepest sympathies to his brother Leigh and other family members.

snooker championships

Championship

Eddie Crane reached the final of the Snooker Championship, defeating Andrew Griffin 2-0 in the semi-final. In his previous match, Eddie made a 30 point break in the deciding frame to beat John Gowran after being one frame and 49 points down. Eddie's son Robbie defeated three times champion John Simpson 2-1 in another quarter-final with breaks of 30 and 28 in the deciding frame. Robbie now plays Jeff Woppard in the other semi, the outcome of which could result in the first father vs son final in the Club's history.

Join Us

Any member interested in the snooker or billiards activities, or who wants to learn the game, please don't hesitate to ask Club Pro Joe Minici. Hours are 12 noon to 6pm Mon-Fri in the 3rd floor Walter Lindrum Billiard Room.

Good cueing, Yours truly

Joe Minici.

P.S. Keep your head down when striking. Your eyes should follow the ball to be potted - not the white!
